EXPERIENCE AND EXAMPLES OF WORK

She then moved to Paris to work in the arbitration field and gained significant disputes experience in the construction & infrastructure, environment & energy, and commercial & corporate sectors, as well as in interpersonal matters. She also has strong transactional experience from both private practice and a long-term secondment to an international environmental services corporation. She has worked on disputes worldwide, with a particular focus on France, Scotland, England, the Middle East and Africa.

Gillian was one of the first members of the Paris Bar to become accredited for mediation under their inaugural training scheme in 2013. She has since obtained further accreditations for civil and commercial, investor-State and community mediation. She is a Registered Mediator with the Civil Mediation Council (England & Wales) and Scottish Mediation and a volunteer community mediator with Smile Mediation (Resolve UK). She works both as mediation counsel and as mediator. As Chair of the Board of the Scottish Arbitration Centre, she was instrumental in introducing the Centre's Mediation Rules in 2025.

Gillian's experience as an arbitrator is essential in many of her mediations where the parties may be contemplating arbitration or are already involved in an arbitration.

Gillian is committed to raising awareness of the benefits of mediation as a key process for addressing many environmental and climate-related disputes. She is a signatory to the Mediators' Green Pledge (World Mediators Alliance on Climate Change).
